WORSHIP

(This is the full version which I wanted to share but got too emotional – Jane)
 While setting up the laptop for the service I was listening to the worship group practise and I was reminded of the situation we were in about four years ago when we were without any musicians. We prayed regularly that the Lord would bring new people to the church to step into this role. Whenever a visitor came to a service and let slip that they could play the piano or guitar my ears would prick up and I would express an immediate interest in them. “Is this the person that God has sent?” I would say to myself. The number of people I had put off with that attitude I dread to think!

Time went on and still no musicians came. Elliott was persuaded to play for us once a month but we always knew that he was “on loan”. We used backing tracks which provided the music to accompany our singing and for a time this seemed the answer to our problem, but no, this was not God’s plan.

Graham expressed his desire to have live worship once more in the church and said we should start in a small way to play what we could and not to worry about making mistakes. So, from singing entirely a cappella or with a backing track, gradually Deb and Sandra accompanied one or two songs on the guitar and piano. Then Rachel, Caitlyn and Bethan played their flutes and James resurrected his drum kit which had been absent for some time. More recently Matt, who has been having lessons for several months, joined the worship group on his guitar. Nigel and Val have always remained faithful, leading the worship with their voices.

This morning there were nine members of the worship group filling the front of the church. I cannot remember there ever being that many people helping us to worship the Lord here at St Peter’s. Truly He has blessed us and not in the way many of us were expecting.

<sup>20</sup> Now to him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to his power that is at work within us, <sup>21</sup> to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever! Amen. Ephesians 3:20-21
